

U.N., Kasavubu Threaten Each Other

Weger Denies Killing Women

OVER THE MONDAY MORNING COFFEECUP —

With spring officially just 21 days away — it begins March 20 — one begins to hope that beautiful weather will hurry up and get here. But we're not complaining about the weather we've had so far this winter. All but one of the big snows and bad storms have missed us completely.

It's those first few days in March that really scare us.

For one, I can't believe that winter is going to pass us by so easily. With an eye on the weather-wise Farmer's Almanac, I'm pulling the snow shovel out of the basement toward the end of the week.

The Almanac predicts a real lion-growing start to March activities, noting that "the Lion's real mad, brings rain and (the ead.) snows, Begorrah, tomorrow, tomorrow, and tomorrow."

We even go so far as to predict that it'll begin on Thursday, rain or snow depending on whether the wind is from the west or east. If the wind's in the east between 8 and 10 a.m. Thursday, we're in for it.

So much for weather-forecasting. Winter will eventually pass; summer will roll around, and we'll complain about the hot weather; fall will arrive, we'll dread to begin thinking of winter, and after a few winter months, we'll be dreaming of summer again. Just a vicious circle, so we might as well enjoy what we have now.

The kids are thinking of summer in realistic terms, though. Gregg is starting to lay into his meals, commenting that the food will make him "bigger and stronger" so he can help on the farm this summer and go swimming "in a lake."

Butch wants to make hay for Grandpa's "tows" and little "Smiley Jo", our fast-learning-how-to-crawl girl, is not waiting for spring to begin gardening activities. Every time she's let down on the floor she heads for our big planter to begin pulling plants, roots and all, from it and scattering them to the winds.

Such are the joys of childhood. J.R.G.

Pardon Denied

SPRINGFIELD (P) — Gov. Otto Kerner today denied a pardon for Trudy Jo Baker, who is serving a 30-year term at the Dwight Women's Reformatory for the murder of a Marine near Centuria in 1956.

King Dies

Uneasy Calm Yet

RABAT, Morocco (P) — Morocco's new king posted heavy security forces around strategic points today to keep a firm hand on the potentially explosive political situation created by the unexpected death of his father, King Mohammed V.

The popular 51-year-old mon-arch's heart failed Sunday after a minor operation, a team of 10 doctors announced.

The crown prince, Moulay Hassan, 31, was proclaimed king. An energetic, forceful young man educated in France, he was named in advance by his father as his successor in 1957.

Together They had run the government of this north African nation of 10 million since last May, trying to head off leftist challenges by outdoing their opponents in friendly overtures to Moscow and increasing estrangement from the United States.

As preparations went ahead for

The state alleged the former dishwasher at Starved Rock State Park Lodge gave several statements in which he admitted bludgeoning the wives of three Chicago business executives nearly a year ago.

Weger has repudiated these statements. He declared from the witness stand that William Dummett, chief deputy sheriff of La Salle County, threatened him at least 10 to 12 times to obtain a confession.

Claims Threats

"He said in his opinion I was guilty," Weger related. "He said if he had to spend the next two years of his life he would convict me. He said he personally would send me to the electric chair."

The day he gave the controverted statements, Weger testified, "Dummett went over this stuff that happened in the canyon and asked me if I did it. He showed me the club and pictures. He threatened me again and said if I confessed, I'd be in for 14 years and if I never confessed, I'd get the electric chair."

Weger said he was afraid and after several hours of questioning, told Dummett, "All right, if you want a confession I'll give you one."

Earlier in his first day on the witness stand Weger, 21, gave a detailed account of what he described as his activities on March 14, 1960, the day the three women were slain.

Weger's lawyer, John A. McNamara, asked Weger point-blank: "Did you kill Mrs. Lillian Oetting?"

"No sir," Weger replied. "I never killed anybody."

Speaks Low

His voice was so weak it was inaudible to many of the hushed crowd of 150 persons packed into the LaSalle County Circuit Court chamber, designed to accommodate only 80.

At one point, Anthony Racuglia, assistant state's attorney, told Weger to speak up so all could hear.

Weger was questioned specifically about Mrs. Oetting, 50, because the current trial is confined to her slaying. Weger is named in separate indictments accusing him of murdering Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47.

The state seeks to send Weger to the electric chair.

Weger, clean-shaven, lanky and dressed plainly, described himself as a painter who did dishwashing work at the lodge.

On March 14, he recalled, a lodge clerk picked him up in his car in LaSalle and drove him to the lodge. Weger said he spent the morning cleaning cabinets, pots and pans and dishes from the

Sheridan Defends Farber

SHERIDAN (P) — Reinstatement of Clarence L. Farber as superintendent of the Illinois State Training School is being sought in petitions circulating in Sheridan.

This was reported by Harold A. Wensland, president of the village. Farber, 56, and six other school employees were dismissed a week ago today after an Illinois Youth Commission investigation.

Wensland said letters and petitions will be presented to an Illinois Senate subcommittee when it opens hearings in Sheridan Thursday.

The village president said Farber had improved the institution during the 10 years he was its superintendent and had taken an active part in affairs of Sheridan, a community of 600 population.

President Joseph Kasavubu met the U.N. threat with a broadcast order to every Congolese military commander "to open fire if necessary against anyone who opposes the mission to which he is ordered."

The latest angry exchange between the Congolese government and the U.N. command came as this capital suffered jitters from the advance of leftist rebel troops toward Leopoldville.

Violence

The outbreak of violence against off-duty personnel Sunday night and early today provoked the U.N. command to warn it will use force unless terrorism ends. The Security Council recently authorized the U.N. in the Congo to use force if necessary to preserve order.

A statement issued by the U.N. command said these attacks cannot be tolerated and will be resisted "with full force."

The attacked woman was a member of the U.N. civilian staff, the spokesman said. He said she was being driven home by an unarmed U.N. Sudanese officer Sunday night when the car was stopped by soldiers on a highway some distance outside Leopoldville.

Sub-machine Guns

Two Congolese armed with sub-machine guns climbed into the car and ordered the officer to drive to nearby Camp Reisdorf army post.

On the way the soldiers ordered the officer to drive in a bush area where other soldiers were waiting.

The woman was forced out of the car. The soldiers assaulted her while the officer was made to look on with a submachine gun jabbed into his stomach.

"It was a bestial assault," a U.N. spokesman said.

When the couple was released they took shelter in the home of a Belgian engineer.

Un-Armed Canadians

In another reported incident four unarmed U.N. Canadian troops in a jeep were halted by Congolese troops near a scenic monument overlooking the Congo River.

They allegedly were ordered to take off their shoes and run for a mile over rocky ground while the Congolese beat them with rifle butts.

The leftist troops heading unopposed toward Leopoldville posed a threat to both the central Congo government and the future of the U.N. Congo operation.

HAVANA (P) — Troops surrounding rebels in the Escambray Mountains of central Cuba were reported awaiting a signal from Prime Minister Fidel Castro today to begin a cleanup drive on the insurgents.

MOVE AGAINST REBELS—Infantrymen of Moise Tshombe's Katanga army move cautiously through fields in the troubled Kabondo area. The Katanganese troops, pressing north through Baluba territory, reported first clashes with regular troops loyal to the Stanleyville Lumumbist government of Antoine Gizenga. United Nations officials warned Tshombe that continued operations by his troops against Baluba tribesmen conflict with U.N. Security Council orders. (NEA Telephoto)

Editor's Note: U.N. recently persuaded Tshombe to withdraw his offensive. Now the Pro-Lumumba rebels are on the move and there is criticism of U.N.'s failure to dissuade their offensive.

GE Man Quits Business Council Chairmanship

GE President Resigns, Health Reasons Given

NEW YORK (P)—Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric Co., resigned today as chairman of the National Business Advisory Council. Simultaneously he announced the retirement of Robert Paxton as GE president.

Cordiner said he was quitting the chairmanship of the council, which advises the secretary of commerce, to take over the GE presidency until a new president is elected.

Paxton, 59, is leaving General Electric two years in advance of his planned retirement because of ill health, Cordiner said.

The announcements came in the wake of government antitrust actions in which General Electric and 28 other electrical equipment manufacturing companies were fined nearly $2 million on charges of rigging bids and prices.

Seven officials of the companies, including three from GE, were sentenced to 30 days in jail. Cordiner's announcement made no mention of the antitrust actions or their results.

After General Electric was fined, the question of whether Cordiner should continue as chairman of the council was raised at a news conference held by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Hodges replied that he would take no part in any decision and that he felt the council, which had chosen Cordiner as chairman, should decide whether he was to stay.

Cordiner said today that council members had urged him to continue as chairman. A GE spokesman said the company has agreed to allow the International Union of Electrical the company's conviction of price-rigging.

Cordiner said Paxton's retirement was due "to the need for a continuing period of convalescence following major surgery in January."

Paxton has been associated with General Electric 37 years, joining the firm immediately after graduation from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Cordiner said Paxton had planned to retire in January 1962, when he would become 60, but because of his health is stepping down earlier.

Recount of Votes Unseats County Auditor

OTTAWA (P) — The LaSalle County auditor was unseated today by a County Court ruling declaring her Democratic opponent the winner in the Nov. 8 election.

Judge John S. Massie ruled that ballots uninitialed by election judges were invalid and said he based his finding on rulings of the Illinois Supreme Court.

Alfred J. Morandi of Peru thus became county auditor in place of Mrs. Elva Heiman, Ottawa Republican incumbent who had sought re-election in November.

The judge's ruling was based on a discovery recount. Both parties agreed to abide by such a procedure to save the expense of a full-scale recount of the election.

The discovery recount showed Mrs. Heiman had polled 208 more votes than Morandi—26,683 to 26,475. It also showed that 1,142 ballots lacked judges' signatures. Of this number 739 were cast for Mrs. Heiman and 403 for Morandi.

'Not Guilty' Verdict in OMVI Case

Lee County Judge John Dixon this morning found Glen Rutherford, 46, 211 1/2 N. Galena Ave., not guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Judge Dixon had taken Rutherford's case under advisement Thursday at the conclusion of a half-day trial at which eight witnesses, including four policemen, Mrs. Rutherford and Rutherford, testified.

Judge Dixon said that, according to the law, the person charged has to be proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt and, after reviewing evidence presented, he had some doubt Rutherford was intoxicated when arrested.

Grounds for the doubt included testimony by Mrs. Rutherford, a state's witness, who said Rutherford had had nothing to drink from the time he had arrived at her residence about 1:30 a.m. until the time he was arrested, about 6:30 a.m., Judge Dixon said.

Request Council to Reconsider Action

Officials of the Dixon Building Trades Council today announced they will present to the City Council Tuesday morning a petition asking the council members to reconsider their action of a week ago rejecting a rezoning ordinance for the North Central School site.

Roy Willard, financial secretary of the council, which is made up of building trades and other local unions, said the petition had 1,700 names on it this morning, and he expects a number more to be added by the time it is presented to the council.

The trades council said it feels the housing-for-the-elderly project which had been proposed for construction on the site would be "an asset to the area," and that "motel-type construction would be more economical than building duplex units on the site.

"Loss of the project for this area would have a demoralizing effect on the business and labor elements of the community," the council said.

The $300,000 housing project was proposed last year by the Lee County Housing Authority of which Frank Sproul is chairman. The Dixon City Plan Commission refused to rezone the property, which now permits duplex construction, to permit a multiple-unit building. The proposed building would have about 28 small apartment units.

Last Tuesday the City Council unanimously voted against the rezoning proposition.

Compton PTA Hears Program

COMPTON — Flags from that of Americus Vesputius to the present "Flag of the United States" were displayed and explained by Irvin Telling, Plano, Thursday evening for the COMPTON PTA meeting held in the school gym.

"Everyone should remember the date June 14, 1777, which was the birthday of our flag," said Telling. "In the flag code passed by Congress, the correct wording for the present 50 star, 13 stripe flag is 'The Flag of the United States' not 'Old Glory', 'Star Spangled Banner', or 'American Flag'. These are certain flags with special stories of their own."

Among the 18 flags displayed were early colonial flags, the flag with 15 stars and 18 stripes, and the State of Illinois flag. Telling gave the meaning of the colors in the flag: red, courage; white, liberty, and blue, loyalty. He told that there are only five places where the flag may be displayed 24 hours a day and explained them.

After his talk, Telling answered questions of the group.

Give Selections
The first grade rhythm band, presented by Miss Irene Watson, vocal music instructor and Mrs. Floyd Beemer, first grade teacher, sang and played six numbers.

Mrs. Wayne Weitzel arranged for and introduced the program.

The business meeting was in charge of Glenn Lamoreux, president. Mrs. Leo Eggers explained the Golden Jubilee Scholarship Fund for future teachers and the group voted to send $10 to the fund.

Lamoreux announced a special meeting of District 5 at Streator, March 23. Mrs. Oswald Kutter, health chairman, told of the heart fund drive and exhibited booklets which anyone interested in could have by placing an order with her. Information secured by Mrs. Charles Wells was presented on building a trophy case for the school. A case three feet high, six

Notes From Mt. Morris

MT. MORRIS—Chancel and Altar Society of the Trinity Lutheran Church met Tuesday at 8 p.m. The meeting opened with devotions by Mrs. George Neher. Mrs. Calvin Balluff, program chairman, introduced Miss Angelika Lucas, Hamburg, Germany, who is spending her senior year in high school in Mt. Morris. Miss Lucas is living with the Glaydon Miller family under the auspices of the Brethren Church foreign student exchange program.

Miss Lucas gave a very informative lecture, aided by slides, about her home, family and schooling in Germany. Her home is about 150 miles from the divided city of Berlin. She explained something of the political aspects of Berlin, as well as some of the personal restrictions put on the people in the Russian zone. Her slides included many of the very modern buildings which have been built to replace those destroyed during World War II.

Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Ole Hiteman, chairman, with Mrs. Everett Kested, Mrs. Donald Horst, Mrs. Leo Horst, Mrs. Robert Hollinger, and Mrs. Lloyd Hoffman assisting. The table was decorated in the log, hatchet, and cherries motif in honor of the birthday of George Washington.

A short business meeting followed and the meeting adjourned. An announcement was made that the next meeting time will be 7:30 p.m. instead of 8 p.m.

Mrs. Louis Niehaus, fifth grade teacher, has returned to school after an absence of six weeks. Mrs. Niehaus submitted to major surgery in Rockford Memorial Hospital and since has been recuperating at home. Mrs. Robert Urish was the substitute teacher during her absence.

Election
The regular Mt. Morris election for two members of the Board of Education for a term of three years will be held on April 8 from noon to 7 p.m. The terms for Robert Urish and Charles H. Weber expire this spring. Both members have filed petitions to have their names placed on the ballot.

The last day for filing petitions is March 18. Petitions may be secured in the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the Junior High building.

The Mt. Morris community theatre group will be giving performances of "Bell, Book and Candle" on March 3-4 at the Junior High School auditorium.

Theatre Meeting
A meeting was held Monday evening at the Village Hall to consider ways of reopening the local theatre. Sam Thomas was moderator for the meeting. Harold Florea informed the group about the two ways the theatre could be opened.

The two alternatives are to operate as a private business operated by an individual or as an incorporated non-profit organization.

David Whitaker told the group of the expenses of running the theatre and the possible income that could be expected. After much discussion, the best idea to finance reopening was the sale of shares to organizations and individuals.

Home Bureau
The Lincoln Home Bureau Unit will meet Wednesday with Mrs. Robert Blough, Mrs. Jay Ziegler and Mrs. Floyd Wolfley will present the major lesson on "Understanding People with Handicaps."

Ohio PTA Has Monthly Meet

OHIO — The Ohio Parent Teachers Assn. held their meeting at the school Monday evening.

The meeting opened with band numbers played by the High School band, under the direction of Vance Plapp, school music director, which included, "Salute to Brahms," and highlights from the "King and I." The third number, "Chartreuse" with Nile Plapp, baritone soloist, was accompanied by the band.

The business meeting followed with Mrs. Donald Parsons, presiding. The following announcements of coming events were made: two 1-act plays, March 10; Little 8 one act play contest, here, March 16; next PTA meeting, March 20; and the Grade School Music Festival, here, March 23.

The High School Band concluded the program with selections from the "Music Man," "Clarinet Escapade," "Washington and Lee Swing," and "Flying Tiger March."

For persons who didn't care to purchase shares, contributions could be made. A non-profit organization will be formed and after the shares were sold, the shareholders would meet to vote for officers.

The group elected officers to head the group until the shareholders meet to voice their vote. Officers are Sam Thomas, president; Dave Whitaker, vice president; Mrs. John Christians, secretary, and George Aderton, treasurer. A date will be set for the group to meet next month.

Marco Polo Lodge Meets In Polo

POLO — The annual inspection of Marco Polo Rebekah Lodge 334 was held Thursday evening, A 6:30 p.m., supper preceded the meeting. The table was decorated in keeping with the month of February.

Mrs. Winifred Rhodes, Dixon, district deputy president of district association 8, was the inspector. She was escorted and introduced by Verna Dentler. She was presented with a gift from the lodge. Six members from Mt. Morris, which is a part of district 32, were guests.

Mabel Samsel served as problem outside guardian.

A letter was read from Pauline Price, president of the assembly, concerning the Bee Builders Club and educational foundation and also a letter from Laura Woodruff, past president of the assembly and now Illinois chairman of the Odd Fellow World Eye Bank.

A communication was read from Dorothy Kruskip, past president of the assembly and now state scrap book chairman, concerning the rules for compiling the scrap book, and also a certificate of appointment of Winifred Rhodes as district deputy president was read. This year's scrap book committee is Mrs. Harriett Locke, Mrs. Kathleen Samuels and Mrs. Joy Sharkey.

Plans were made for a rummage sale and provision sale to be held April 22 at the Rotary hall.

Two candidates were voted on and accepted and another application was read.

Announcement was made that the Past Noble Grand club would meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Ditzler. Miss Mary Hammer will present the program.

Mrs. Rhodes spoke briefly and expressed her appreciation to the members, after which refreshments were served at a local restaurant.

The Constitution and Bylaws of the United Church of Christ were voted upon at the regular monthly business meeting of the members of the First Congregational Church Wednesday evening. This vote was a part of the consummation of the merger between the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches. In ratifying the new constitution the local church becomes a part of the United Church of Christ, but will retain its present name. The revised church budget for 1961 was read and the following committee chairmen were named: religious education, Mrs. Perry Ketchum; music, Mrs. Robert Hood, and social action, Mrs. Josephine Haas. Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kant were hosts at the scramble supper which preceded the business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hupach returned home Wednesday afternoon from Sandwich where they had been visiting relatives.

Mrs. Francis Bybee left for Sycamore today to attend a two day retreat and leadership training program for the Northern Area women.

Unwilling Salesman Goes Free

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In this story a guy around town named Ned Norworth saves his own life, strikes a big blow for mental health and brings hope to millions of American men.

"I don't know what it is about me," Norworth says sadly. "Maybe it's something in the eyes or the set of my mouth. Maybe it's that I don't wear a hat."

"What ever it is, I keep being mistaken in department stores for a sales person."

"People are forever rushing up to me and asking me to wait on them, or for directions, or for prices. Why? Why me? I've looked in the mirror thousands of times. I've made friends with real department store salespeople. I've had my hair cut short or gone shopping without a shave. But I've never been able to unlock the secret."

Now, to thousands of men in every American city Norworth's problem is an everyday thing. But while they have been able to bear this silent desperation, Norworth has grown more sensitive, troubled, unhappy.

"I don't know when I first began to crack," he recalls. "I don't know that I ever really made a conscious decision to do anything about it. I suspect it was a train of events that I recognized unconsciously and seized."

The apartment across the court from his in Greenwich Village, he remembers, had always been filled with noisy people. It had never really bothered him until one night he realized that he was watching their loud partying from his darkened bedroom and imagining what he could do with a blowgun.

That night he made hundreds of bullets out of aluminum foil from cigarette packages. And the next morning he went to Macy's department store toy counter to buy a blowgun.

It was a new Norworth who waited for service but, of course, he still looked like the old Norworth. Almost immediately a woman approached him and asked: "Where is the ladies' room?" The new Norworth answered her: "Have you bought anything madam?"

"No," she said.

"Well," new Norworth said, "you buy something and then come back and ask me."

The woman disappeared into the crowd and Norworth wallowed in a spectrum of new sensations. The next thing he remembers she was back with an angry young man wearing a flower in his lapel.

"Outrageous behavior," the young man was saying. "Pick up your pay. We don't tolerate this at Macy's. You're fired."

Fired. Discharged. Finished. Norworth stood happily in what he now realizes must have been a trance state while a feeling of freedom washed over him.

Somewhat the vital need for a blowgun was dissolving. And while the woman shifted uncomfortably from foot to foot and the blush of understanding broke in blotches across the young man's face, Norworth said a quiet thank you and walked slowly but surely toward the escalator.

Gave Erector Sets to Boys

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—"One night I went up to the attic and messed around," wrote Stephen Smith of Gettysburg, Pa. "Then I saw a funny thing. I didn't know what it was."

"I opened it and it came to my mind it was an Erector set. When my father was a little boy he had an Erector."

"For Christmas I wished to have an Erector and a microscope and a lab set. And ever since then I did many things with both."

The youngster's letter, sincere if not altogether grammatical, didn't differ much from more than a million others written to A. C. Gilbert over the years, which shows that when he died Jan. 24 a part of American boyhood went with him.

Gilbert's Death

With Gilbert's death, leadership of the company passed to his son, Alfred Carlton Gilbert Jr., who says he'll "make every effort to continue to create" the same type educational toys his father made famous.

In his later years, the elder Gilbert went to the office only three days a week and concerned himself mainly with choosing new toys to add to the existing line of 51 different sets in 11 science categories.

But none of Gilbert's inventions (he owned more than 150 patents) has had the success of the Erector—the original do-it-yourself gift that not only has occupied many a boyhood hour but also launched many an adult career.

10 Million Boys

More than 10 million boys have owned Erector sets, and who can say how many, like Stephen Smith, have added to the ones passed along to them by their fathers; because the thing hasn't changed a whit since A. C. Gilbert built the first one back in 1913.

Gilbert made friends through his other toys, to be sure, though company spokesmen say Erector represents "a substantial part" of its science toy business.

But no toy does more than the Erector, nor were its creations confined to the playroom.

Prototype

The prototype model of the World War II Bailey Bridge was built with a No. 10½ Erector. An Erector was used to design industry's Gantry Crane. The motor and other Erector parts were used to build the first heart-lung machine, now in the Smithsonian Institution. At the A. C. Gilbert Co. factory in New Haven, Conn., baskets constructed from Erector sets carry parts to the assembly line on overhead trolleys.

Search for Killer of 4 Year Old

NEW YORK (AP) — The search for pretty little Edith (Google) Kiecorius is over.

Another has taken its place — a nationwide man-hunt for the murder of the 4-year-old girl.

Edith's half-clad, bruised body was found Sunday in a shabby rooming house only hours after her widowed mother had prayerfully insisted, "No one can hurt such a beautiful child."

A medical examiner said Edith apparently had been beaten to death but an autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause. The girl was sexually assaulted. The examiner approximated the time of death as last Wednesday — the day the child disappeared from in front of her uncle's home just two blocks away.

Accompanying the nationwide alarm was a description of the toothless, middle-aged man who rented the room Feb. 17 and was last seen an hour before the child vanished. Police said the man registered at the drab West Side rooming house under the name of Fred Thompson. He was described as about 50 to 55 years old, 5 feet, 3 inches tall and weighing 140 to 150 pounds.

Edith, her mother, Mrs. Alvinos Kiecorius; her grandmother, Frances Duclet, and her brother, Albin, 10, were visiting her uncle, Manuel Duclet, at his Eighth Ave. home when she disappeared.

Miami Smog

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An eye-stinging smog formed over the greater Miami area before daylight today. It apparently was caused by a brush fire in the Everglades north of Miami. A north wind blew the smoke over the city and a layer of warm air—which changed to be clamped over Miami like a lid—kept the fumes from dispersing.

Teen Girl Love Suicide

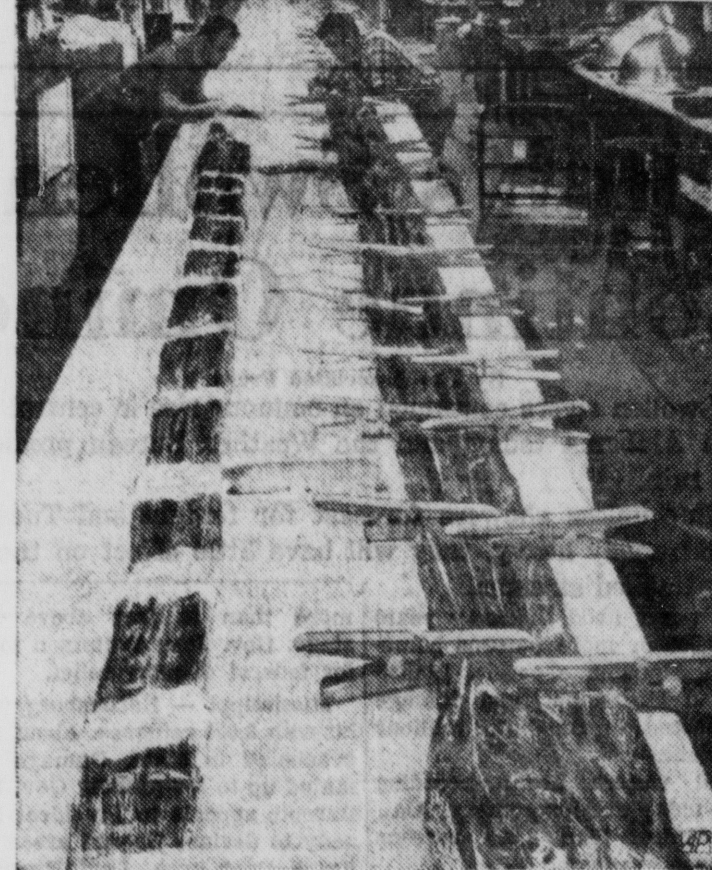

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — A farewell note to her sweetheart was found beside the body of a pretty teen-age high school cheerleader who crashed a station wagon into a concrete pillar at high speed near here.

The California Highway Patrol said it appeared that Lynn Marie Bennett, 16, of San Mateo swerved into the Highway 101 overpass pillar deliberately Saturday night. She had driven the 190 miles from her home in about three hours, they estimated.

A four-page note found in her purse indicated she was upset over a recent breakup with her friend, officers said.

Her parents told police that she and Dennis Chandler, 16, a classmate at San Mateo's Aragon High School had broken up last Thursday. They had been going steady for two years.

Her father, Charles D. Bennett, is a math teacher at Aragon High.

South's Swollen Rivers Continue Ominous Rise

By The Associated Press

Swollen rivers continued an ominous rise in central and south Alabama today, and the Weather Bureau predicted more rain.

But unless showers forecast for tonight and Tuesday are extremely heavy, they will have little effect on the already-flooded streams.

The worst flood in many years left 10,000 or more persons homeless in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi, and damage is expected to run into millions of dollars.

Flood waters began receding slowly today at Montgomery, Ala., where more than 3,000 persons have been evacuated.

The rampaging Alabama River crested during the night and by 7 a.m. had receded a tenth of a foot.

Downstream, the Alabama was out of its banks and still rising. Selma was hard hit. Lowland residents were evacuated by the scores over the weekend.

The Red Cross began establishing an emergency field disaster headquarters at Montgomery for flood victims.

At least 12 persons have died in Southern flood waters caused by torrential rains which lasted most of last week.

Stricken areas at a glance: Alabama—Montgomery and central Alabama worst hit. At least 3,240 evacuated, including about 1,500 at Montgomery and 700 at Selma. Alabama River at Montgomery reaches record level of more than 23 feet above flood stage. Gov. John Patterson to ask for federal disaster relief.

Mississippi — Hattiesburg worst hit with 3,600 refugees. About 5,000 evacuated in state. Damage estimated up to $10 million. Gov. Ross Barnett appeals to President Kennedy to declare flooded areas major disaster area. Leaf River receding slowly at Hattiesburg.

Georgia — Columbus and West Point on Chattahoochee River at Alabama line suffer most damage. Police at Columbus estimate 1,000 evacuated. About 340 evacuated at West Point. Chattahoochee receding slowly.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Frances Butler

MT. MORRIS — Mrs. Frances Allen Butler, 52, 3 S. McKendree Ave., Mt. Morris, died at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in her home following a long illness.

She was born Nov. 18, 1908, in Polo, the daughter of Harvey C. and Pearl G. Valentine Shrader. She was married to Floyd Butler in Polo Sept. 2, 1937. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren. She is survived by her husband; a son, Richard; a brother, Max Shrader, Polo; her father, Harvey Shrader, Polo, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Carl Myers, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery, Mt. Morris.

Friends may call in Finch Funeral Home this afternoon and evening.

A memorial fund for the church has been established.

Coast Guard Auxiliary Makes Plans

Blackhawk Flotilla of the Coast Guard Auxiliary is making extensive plans for educational programs in boat safety and motor board inspections during the coming boating season, according to an announcement from the flotilla.

The group includes members from Dixon, Sterling, Rock Falls, Oregon and DeKalb. Its recently elected officers are Elmer Gasmund, Dixon, commander; Leonard Glenn, Dixon, vice commander; and Allen Haberle, Rock Falls, training officer.

The flotilla works closely with the Coast Guard, and many members have passed examinations to become boat inspectors. The auxiliary deal, given after a safety inspection of a boat, satisfies the state requirements for boat safety.

The auxiliary makes no charge for its services. The group meets on the third Wednesday of the month at the Dixon Armory. Announcements of the public instruction courses in safe boating will be announced in The Evening Telegraph.

breakfast cooking. This took him to 12:30 p.m. when some women washers came on duty.

Weger said the regular pot man, John Donnelly, did not show up for work that day and that Weger did Donnelly's work. The luncheon cleanup lasted until 3 p.m., Weger testified.

At that time, the defendant continued, he went to the lodge desk and got some writing paper, a stamp and a pencil. He said he could not recall who gave him these articles.

Through an employee's entrance, he added, he went into the Powwow Room, a soft drink lounge in the basement of the lodge. He plugged in the jukebox and wrote by the light of a single light.

Finished Letter

When he finished the letter, he said, he checked on the coal stoker, one of Donnelly's tasks, and put 300 pounds of fuel in the bin. Then he played a pinball machine in the lounge until about 4:30 p.m., filled the stoker bin for the night and went to the washroom to shave.

Weger reported to the kitchen boss at 5 p.m., he said. He said the boss asked, "What's wrong with your face?" The defendant said he told him he cut himself shaving with a straight edge razor. The boss, he added, said he was referring to a bruise. Weger said he told him he bumped his head on a towel cabinet while installing a towel.

From 5 p.m. until after the evening meal, Weger said, he worked at his dishwashing duties.

It was during this period that the state contends, Weger bludgeoned the women to death in St. Louis Canyon, a scenic spot in the park, far from the lodge building.

Police Court

Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos Sunday fined Thomas J. Sheridan, Amboy, $17, $50 and costs for transporting liquor with a broken seal, and $15 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Sheridan was arrested at Fifth Street and Depot Avenue at 12:20 a.m. Sunday with liquor with a broken seal and a case of beer in his auto, according to police. He was drinking the beer, police said.

Boos Saturday fined Willy Victim, 50, Jay Dee Ave., $15 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Victim was picked up on a warrant signed by his wife charging he was beating his children with a stick. He was arrested at the Jay Dee address.

Fire Calls

Dixon firemen answered a call at 1:57 a.m. Sunday to the George McCarthy residence, 422 Dixon Ave., where soot from a furnace had caused considerable smoke. There was no fire.

Traffic Court

The "W. Peterson, 47, Rt. 1, Dixon," listed in last Tuesday's traffic court as being fined $5 and costs by Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos for careless driving, was Harold W. Peterson, 47, Rt. 1, Dixon.

During the weekend, Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos fined: Lucille K. Rakowski, 40, Rt. 2, Dixon, $5 and costs for failure to yield right-of-way. Mrs. Rakowski was involved in a two-car accident Tuesday at Second Street and College Avenue.

Joseph C. Henry Jr., 17, Rt. 3, Dixon, $20 and costs for faulty mufflers. Henry was ticketed Friday in the 200 block of West River Street for operating a vehicle which made loud and unusual noises.

John J. Varga, 17, Rt. 1, Dixon, $20 and costs on a muffler charge. He was ticketed Tuesday at Hennepe Avenue and First Street for operating a car making loud and unusual noises. Police said he stepped on the car's accelerator, causing the westbound car to make the noises in the 200 block of First Street, but they were unable to stop the auto until it had gone around the block and headed south on Hennepe.

Bond of $60 was posted Saturday by Garret W. Kreger, 49, Rt. 2, Amboy, on a reckless driving charge stemming from an accident Thursday evening at Third Street and Highland Avenue, when the Kreger car crashed into the rear of one driven by Riehnardt F. Stahl, 42, 301 Poplar St., Dixon.

Kreger asked for and was granted a change of venue from Boos to Justice of the Peace Edwin Merick. An appearance date has not yet been set.

DeGaulle Meets With Rebel Chief

PARIS (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba and French President Charles de Gaulle today began critical talks aimed at setting the scene for peaceful settlement of the Algerian rebellion.

The two went into a closed door conference immediately after Bourguiba arrived at De Gaulle's secluded chateau in Rambouillet outside Paris.

Bourguiba drove from Orly Airport in 45 minutes flanked by a motorcycle escort as police helicopters whirled overhead.

Tough security precautions barred everyone but government officials and accredited newsmen from the area around the chateau.

The Tunisian president who calls the rebels his brothers and the French his friends, flew in from Zurich for the climatic talks.

Thousands of police and special gendarmes guarded Orly Field and the 30-mile route to Rambouillet. The road was closed to all traffic an hour before Bourguiba's scheduled passage.

De Gaulle evidently was taking no chances that extremists opposed to any peace negotiations might mar the Bourguiba visit.

Full military honors were rendered Bourguiba as he stepped from his plane on his first visit to France since he negotiated independence in 1955. The greeting party was headed by French Premier Michel Debre.

Bourguiba and De Gaulle are scheduled for day-long private meetings. Later Debre, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Tunisian Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs Dr. Sadok Mokadem and others will be called in for a formal round-table discussion.

Communique Doubtful

Whether any communique will be issued is questionable. The negotiations are viewed as too delicate for either man to wish much publicity.

Before bringing the French and the rebels face-to-face at a peace table, some highly complicated questions must be cleared up.

Although the rebels have accepted in principle De Gaulle's proposal of self-determination for Algeria, they demand negotiations on how this will be applied. De Gaulle has previously refused to talk until the rebels lay down their arms, although it is now generally recognized that he is ready to weaken on this score.

It will be Bourguiba's task to work out with De Gaulle some formula which will allow face-saving on all sides.

The rebel government-in-exile in Tunis, previously cool to the Bourguiba-De Gaulle meeting, has now given Bourguiba its full backing. On the eve of the sessions, rebel sources appeared optimistic that now was the time when the war could finally be brought to a halt.

Photographer to Move Into New Studio Quarters

Loren Williamson, who operates Blankenberg photographic studio at 76 Galena Ave., will move his business to 207 Peoria Ave. on Wednesday, he announced today.

The new location formerly was occupied by Schildberg's studio. Williamson formerly was located at 109 1/2 First Street, but moved to the Galena Avenue address last June after fire gutted the building.

Williamson said a grand opening in the new studio will be announced. He has been in portrait and commercial photography since moving to Dixon from Milwaukee five years ago.

To Hit Job Agencies for Favoritism

CHICAGO (AP)—A move against private employment agencies practicing discrimination in job placement has been promised by Robert Johnston, Illinois Department of Labor director.

Discrimination by these agencies, the cabinet officer said Saturday, has contributed to a continuing high level of unemployment among non-white workers. He said the number of jobless in this group had not dropped below 10 per cent since 1957.

Johnston told a Leadership Conference on Fair Employment Practices the move was a followup to an order banning discrimination in state employment. He termed the state job order "only a beginning."

Offenders

"The biggest offenders in this line in Illinois are the private employment agencies," he said. "They, too, come under the law, and before they will get licenses from my department they will be closely scrutinized."

The labor official said the strict enforcement will begin when new agencies apply for licenses, or old ones apply for renewal.

Johnston said the moral force of his campaign may be sufficient to bring the agencies into line.

"But if that fails," he said, "there are other areas in which, according to law, these agencies must be letter-perfect. They can expect a general tightening up from my department."

Agencies

Agencies applying for new licenses or renewals, Johnston said, will be questioned about their practices and asked to open their records to state investigators. He said evidence of discrimination would bring more intensive investigation.

"If necessary," he said, "we will send our investigators out into areas where we can find our own evidence."

He contended poverty due to discrimination in jobs prevents non-whites from achieving normal living standards and higher education, prerequisites to finding better jobs.

The king had undergone a minor operation in the palace clinic for correction of a restricted nasal passage. Brief surgery had just been completed when the king's heart failed, the doctors said. Crown Prince

The Cabinet met to proclaim the crown prince as King Moulay Hassan II. It ordered seven days of mourning for the old king, a national hero in the long fight for independence from France.

Moulay Hassan, who also succeeds his father as premier, takes over a government divided between old guard conservative nationalists and independents.

Select Jury To Hear Suit

A jury was chosen this morning in Lee County Circuit Court to hear a $20,000 damage suit filed by Loren Smith against Irving Kersten.

The suit, originally tried March 10, 1958, was not settled because the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

An amended complaint was filed this morning in the Circuit Court Clerk's office.

Vandals Damage Putting Greens At Country Club

Lee County Sheriff Robert Burrs said vandals tore up two putting greens at Dixon Country Club by driving over them with a car some time during the weekend.

Authorities have casts of tire treads making the marks.

Burrs said a similar incident seems to happen "about every year," but this year authorities have the tread marks.

Greens torn up are numbers four and five.

Westbrook Pegler Comments

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The worst professional handicap an American politician can suffer is a sense of honor, the quality that is gropingly called "decency." Few successful manipulators of the public emotions have been seriously burdened in this way. In our time, F. D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman were so little cumbered that one may say they were innocent except of an unweighable taint of goodness no more intentional than original sin.

Born into a confused, preposterous society which abhors war and aggressors but venerates Abe Lincoln, they were prepared so to behave in public office that the ignorant soul of The People idolized them.

At the other extreme were Robert Taft and the late John Rankin, the Mississippi congressman who maintained his native bigotry against the counter-bigotries of New York and never lowered his voice or his standards. Taft died a-borning, so to speak, for he was just coming into being when Eisenhower's highjackers jumped him in the convention of 1952. He expired of cancer within a year. We will never know how he would have borne himself in the White House but he made an intimation when he blurted an exclamation of shock at Ike's choice of a boss of the plumbers' union for his first secretary of labor.

Rankin was gerrymandered out of a district which would have elected him for eternity. Otherwise he might have carried his banners to the summit of a knee-high hill-jack down South. He never showed respect to persons whom he angrily abhorred as a matter of morals. His landsmen were periodical teetotalers, ardently religious and flaunting an unaffected ignorance and high-octane patriotism. Rankin was as truly representative of his people as Manny Celler is of the 11th New York. Whoever hated Hitler but neither Lenin nor Stalin was a communist to him.

It should be absurd and funny to a people so lavishly fond of comedians that our country has worked itself into many frothy sweats, often flecked with blood, over the right to vote for Kennedy, Adam Clayton Powell, Ike, Rockefeller, Lehman, Chief Justice Warren and Congressman James Roosevelt. And now the people have been listening eagerly to a man who persuades them that God wants them to be the moral and spiritual cops of the human race behind his leadership.

Complaint is noted that Adolf Hitler's text was inconsistent and that he improvised as he developed his power. But Woodrow Wilson had beaten him to it long ago in his fantastic crush on Colonel F. M. House, the forerunner of Harry Hopkins and Rasputin, the monk. In a fictional civil war House overthrew the national government and abolished the Constitution as written. In this book, so frightful in its literary composition that my copy cost me $40 as a rarity, House had the candor within himself to decide that the common people were fools to be governed by their betters for the good of all concerned. F. D. Roosevelt and his mother knew House well and Roosevelt, after his first nomination, made a pilgrimage to House at Magnolia, Mass.

The results were seen in the packing of the federal courts, the rise of the federal commissariat (Felix Frankfurter's dream) and Roosevelt's "aggregate war powers" which Kennedy recently adopted as his minimum authority with expressed intention to go further, as it might please him to.

Wilson obviously agreed with House but babbled of "our solemn referendum" as though x-million times the common man's ignorant greed became by mathematical magic a power of wisdom. But House, alone, and he only under secrecy, had the nerve to conclude that the founding fathers wrote the Constitution primarily to keep the lower orders in hand.

Those who cover at Kennedy's name are well advised. The most definite commitment of President Kennedy's campaign was a threat in paraphrase of F.D.R.'s promise to keep on trying "something else" after each failure.

For the record: In gathering material for the column of Feb. 22, I was told that Dave Beck, in boasting about his Seattle holdings, said he owned "a quarter of the land under the Tropics Motel."

Comes a wire from Harry Delaloye, who operates the Tropics: "This land was purchased from the James L. Napier estate by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delaloye. The Tropics was built by them. Dave Beck does not now and never has had any interest in the land, building or operating whatsoever."

Church Council Objects to Film

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Protestant and orthodox leaders today prepared an advisory to churches across the country not to show the widely circulated film, "Operation Abolition," without presenting supplementary facts about it.

The step was authorized by the National Council of Churches, which voiced misgivings about the fairness of the film.

It deals with student demonstrations in protest against hearings at the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco last spring, and depicts the demonstrations as Communist-led.

The film is being exhibited in many cities—at schools, clubs, churches, universities and other places. About 700 copies have been sold at $100 each by a Washington, D.C., company.

After a spirited two-hour session, the National Council's general board took action Thursday questioning charges made in the film, and also whether it contains "error of fact and interpretation."

The council, comprising 34 denominations with 40 million members, said it acted because of "Christian concern for truth and justice in all acts of all agencies of government."

Rep. Francis Walter, D-Pa., chairman of the House committee, appears in the film, along with other committee members.

The church representatives expressed concern about accusations in the film "reflecting adversely upon the reputations of students" and about the film's "effect upon freedom of expression" by implying that a criticism of the House committee is Communist-inspired.

Herluf Jensen, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Student Christian Federation, said there was "no evidence of student violence whatever" in the San Francisco affair, as indicated by the film.

Church delegates, who viewed the film Wednesday night before acting on it the next day, said it "does not contribute to a realistic understanding of commu-

Dear Ann:

Dear Readers: Remember "Bitter 15" the lad who was paying his own school tuition and buying his own clothes? I thought his parents had done a superb job of teaching him self-reliance and I said so. I also went to bat for him and suggested that his folks buy him a hi-fi set. Many readers agreed with me. Many did not. Nobody was neutral. Here is an assortment of opinions:

From Chicago: Dear Ann: Have you lost your mind? I'm considering cancelling my subscription unless you back-track on your advice to "Bitter 15." His parents must be idiots. And so are you. —MARY S.

Cleveland: Here's a 21 gun salute from a clergyman who has done a great deal of counseling with teenage boys. Few columnists would have had the courage to take the unpopular position and applaud the parents. I have worked with delinquent boys for many years and not one was raised in a home where he had to go to school, hold down a job and account for his money. Your stand was sound and I commend you heartily for it. —REV. R. B.

Grand Forks, N. D.: If the parents of "Bitter 15" bought him that hi-fi set he wants so badly when would he play it? In his sleep? —MRS. L. J.

Toledo: You said the teenagers were going to hate you for sticking up for the boy's parents. Well, you're right. They do. Why should teenagers have to buy their own clothes? What are parents for anyway? —T. J.

Louisville: You came through like a Kentucky thoroughbred with your reply to "Bitter 15." Our 16-year old slob gets $5 a week spending money Monday. By Saturday he's broke. He thinks he's abused when he's asked to carry out the trash once in a while. His favorite line is "Why do I have to do this? I'm not hired help. The parents of "Bitter 15" are raising a self-reliant, responsible young man. By comparison, our noodnik is a vegetable. —G. T.

Salt Lake City: You're nuts. Did you say the parents were raising a wonderful boy? It sounds to me as if the boy is raising himself. What are they doing besides letting him live in the house and take his meals with them? —MAD

San Jose: You're probably plenty busy ducking bricks because of your answer to "Bitter 15." Well, honey, here's a rose from San Jose. Any boy who can sit down and account for $566.80 of the $623.60 he earned for the year is sure to be one whale of a success. The boy may feel his folks are hard on him now, but he'll thank them later. —CHERING

Marshalltown, Iowa: Your reply to "Bitter 15" was shocking. I think the parents should be reported to the juvenile authorities in their city. —FURIOUS

New York: I would like to buy that remarkable 15-year-old boy the hi-fi set he wants so badly. Any youngster as good as he is

So They Say

The U. S. Customs men, at the ports anyway, will have to be taught to abandon their occupational mimicry of the Marx Brothers and revert to simple courtesy. —Manchester Guardian's Alastair Cook, suggesting one way to increase number of European tourists in U. S.

The imports are casting them (U. S. workers) out of jobs and forcing them to live on federal handouts of surplus food packages. —Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.), urging blocking "drain of dollars and jobs" caused by cheap imports.

I feel the American people have gotten off very easy. The only other country where they don't pay what they should is France. —Harry S. Truman on U. S. taxes.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

Miss Dorothy Ann Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Sullivan, 611 Assembly place, left Sunday for Washington, D. C., where she is accepting a job with the government. Miss Sullivan graduated from Indiana University Feb. 11, where she majored in Russian. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Two Dixon students at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia., have received campus recognition for activities.

Joyce Schluter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tagge of 504 Brinton ave., has been initiated into Alpha Gamma chapter of Alpha Xi Delta, national social sorority.

Carl Buchner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buchner, Jr., has been elected secretary of Chi Beta Phi, local social fraternity, and is now rehearsing for the next Little Theatre production. He was also recently initiated into Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity.

Miss Schluter is a freshman and Buchner is a sophomore.

Charles F. Feindt, Rt. 3, Dixon, is listed on the "distinguished" list of Purdue University for the first semester of the school year. He was announced today by C. E. Dammann, registrar and director of student admissions.

W. H. Rollins of this city today received a photograph of Joan Blondell, Warner Brothers film star.

Excellent academic work in the first semester of his freshman year at Knox College has won for Stanley Krahler of Dixon an honorable mention voted by the Knox faculty at a recent meeting. Only four members of the freshman and eight members of the sophomore class received this honor.

Coach A. C. Bowers of the Dixon high school athletic teams went to Champaign today to attend the University of Illinois relay carnival this evening.

Three candidates for mayor and 20 for commissioner filed petitions with City Clerk Grover Saturday. The municipal campaign is now under way and from now until primary day, March 14th, there will be played a big game of municipal politics. Candidates for mayor are: W. B. Brinton; R. C. Bovey; and Hiram Brooks. Candidates for commissioners are: Mark D. Smith; John J. Armstrong; Frank D. Palmer; James F. Haley; Martin Gannon; B. F. Snyder; J. D. Van Bibber; W. H. Gray; M. A. Gorton; Henry Schmidt; W. A. Schuler; James Devine; John M. Sterling; H. U. Bardwell; Joseph Korns; A. J. Scriven; Carlton Northrup; N. H. Jensen; J. B. Stackpole and William Ruggles.

The candidates claim they don't know where they are at, in no place in the game. The working of several combinations has been started by several candidates for commissioners, but as yet there are no results visible.

The furniture for the new post office arrived today. It has been delayed for weeks and its arrival is welcomed by Postmaster Frey, who has had all arrangements made for installing it for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Utley of Sterling were guests today of Gordon Utley.

FRIDAY ERROR

CARNEY, Md. (P) — As the bus packed with schoolchildren pulled up to a rural restaurant, the cook put 60 patties of ground beef on the grill—so the hamburgers would be ready to serve when the boys and girls placed their orders.

Then somebody remembered it was Friday. Then somebody else learned the youngsters were from a Roman Catholic school.

Then—as the ground beef sizzled—the orders came in. Tuna sandwiches mostly. Hamburgers? Not a single one.

And all of us can stop worrying for the moment lest in some future date the value of the dollar might be tampered with. Devaluation has almost always led in the long run to higher prices and to less market value of paychecks, or savings, or fixed incomes such as pensions.

The dollar's troubles arose because more of them were flowing abroad than came back. They go abroad to pay for imports, for military and economic aid, for private investments, for tourists' expenses and purchases. Returning dollars mostly pay for our goods or services.

With a surplus of dollars piling up abroad, the dollar was in less demand and its exchange value weakened. Also many surplus dollars were turned into our Treasury for gold, making our reserves look shaky unless this was stopped, and giving some the notion the dollar itself was in danger.

Washington has cut some government spending abroad, proposes to cut more and to discourage some private spending overseas. It urges both government and private agencies to speed up our exports to bring in more dollars.

It also is trying to halt the flight of short-term investment money—the prime sore spot last fall. Washington is trying to keep yields on short-term securities here high enough to attract investors who have been putting out their funds in better paying overseas money markets.

If this continues what does it mean to you?

If you're going to be a tourist soon, it means you'll get a better deal turning in your money for that of the land you're visiting.

If you're a businessman, it means you don't have to worry about just how much you'll get when you're finally paid for your goods or services, or just how much you'll have to pay when imported materials and goods are delivered. And it means you'll know just how much your

City Clerk Blake C. Grover was in receipt of an unusual communication this morning which had taken 59 days in reaching its destination. The letter was from Papua, an island of the Guinea group off the coast of Australia and was written by Rev. John W. Dixon, who is stationed at a Methodist mission on the island and read as follows:

"I have read in the Encyclopedia Britannica that your place was laid out by a man named John Dixon (1784-1876), the first white settler in Lee County. Is it possible for you to tell me the birthplace of this John Dixon, the name and address of any descendant of his, or the same name living at the present time?"

The letter was written and mailed at Papua Dec. 28 and the desired information will be forwarded by City Clerk Grover immediately.

The Dixon high school basketball team gave the members of the Sterling high school teams and the fans of that city a sad surprise in the Sterling gym Friday evening, and incidentally, put a decidedly wet blanket on the hopes of the Sterlings that their team will win the district high school tournament in that city next week.

For when the smoke of the battles—there were two of them—had rolled away, Coach Bowers' boys had annexed both games, the lightweights winning 15 to 8, and the first string team piling up 16 points while Sterling was getting 8. Joyce was the star of the junior team while Kennedy and McReynolds shared the outstanding honors for the first string men.

Bovey; and Hiram Brooks. Candidates for commissioners are: Mark D. Smith; John J. Armstrong; Frank D. Palmer; James F. Haley; Martin Gannon; B. F. Snyder; J. D. Van Bibber; W. H. Gray; M. A. Gorton; Henry Schmidt; W. A. Schuler; James Devine; John M. Sterling; H. U. Bardwell; Joseph Korns; A. J. Scriven; Carlton Northrup; N. H. Jensen; J. B. Stackpole and William Ruggles.

The candidates claim they don't know where they are at, in no place in the game. The working of several combinations has been started by several candidates for commissioners, but as yet there are no results visible.

The furniture for the new post office arrived today. It has been delayed for weeks and its arrival is welcomed by Postmaster Frey, who has had all arrangements made for installing it for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Utley of Sterling were guests today of Gordon Utley.

FRIDAY ERROR

CARNEY, Md. (P) — As the bus packed with schoolchildren pulled up to a rural restaurant, the cook put 60 patties of ground beef on the grill—so the hamburgers would be ready to serve when the boys and girls placed their orders.

Then somebody remembered it was Friday. Then somebody else learned the youngsters were from a Roman Catholic school.

Then—as the ground beef sizzled—the orders came in. Tuna sandwiches mostly. Hamburgers? Not a single one.

overseas investments will be worth in dollars.

And all of us can stop worrying for the moment lest in some future date the value of the dollar might be tampered with. Devaluation has almost always led in the long run to higher prices and to less market value of paychecks, or savings, or fixed incomes such as pensions.

The dollar's troubles arose because more of them were flowing abroad than came back. They go abroad to pay for imports, for military and economic aid, for private investments, for tourists' expenses and purchases. Returning dollars mostly pay for our goods or services.

With a surplus of dollars piling up abroad, the dollar was in less demand and its exchange value weakened. Also many surplus dollars were turned into our Treasury for gold, making our reserves look shaky unless this was stopped, and giving some the notion the dollar itself was in danger.

Washington has cut some government spending abroad, proposes to cut more and to discourage some private spending overseas. It urges both government and private agencies to speed up our exports to bring in more dollars.

It also is trying to halt the flight of short-term investment money—the prime sore spot last fall. Washington is trying to keep yields on short-term securities here high enough to attract investors who have been putting out their funds in better paying overseas money markets.

If this continues what does it mean to you?

If you're going to be a tourist soon, it means you'll get a better deal turning in your money for that of the land you're visiting.

If you're a businessman, it means you don't have to worry about just how much you'll get when you're finally paid for your goods or services, or just how much you'll have to pay when imported materials and goods are delivered. And it means you'll know just how much your

DOTTIE DIXON'S DIARY

Miss Linda Wade, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Lyne B. Wade, 603 Page Ave., has pledged Kappa Epsilon social sorority at Augustana College, Rock Island, where she is enrolled as a freshman.

Mrs. William Cinnamon recently visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cruse, 907 Chestnut Ave. Mrs. Cinnamon, who lived in Dixon for many years, now resides in Las Cruces, N. M.

Don Sofolo, Dixon, is attending Stout State College, Menomonie, Wis., majoring in industrial education. This semester's enrollment of 1,360 students is the largest registration in the history of the Wisconsin college.

Are your college sons or daughters taking part in campus activities, or have they graduated and started careers out-of-town? Call or write Dottie Dixon and give her an item about them for this column. Phone AT 2-1111.

Army Recruit Delbert C. Deatherage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Deatherage, 515 Seventh St., recently qualified as an expert in firing the M-1 rifle on the firing range at Fort Riley, Kan., while training there with the 1st Infantry Division. He has been in the Army since December.

Capt. Walter Wellman, Ransom, Ill., who serves as military supplies supervisor for the northern district of the Illinois National Guard, was in Dixon Friday on business and visited his aunt, Mrs. P. S. Flach, 209 1/2 N. Galena Ave.

Miss Carolyn Gasmund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gasmund, 507 N. Hennepin Ave., and Miss Linda Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey, 213 May Court, are included in the 434 Illinois State Normal University students who were recently named to the "Dean's List" for the first semester. Making the list requires a scholastic average not lower than B.

Joe Gillen, formerly of Dixon, submitted to major surgery Saturday, and is recuperating in St. Mary's Hospital, Kankakee.

'Mundt's Statements Incorrect,' Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Sunday night disavowed as inaccurate and regrettable a fellow Republican's statement that Eisenhower is critical of the direction President Kennedy's administration is taking.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., talked with Eisenhower for an hour recently at his Palm Springs, Calif., vacation spot. In a news letter he sends to constituents, Mundt Sunday gave his impression of Eisenhower's views.

"He is critical of the tendencies thus far evidenced by the JFK administration—too much left of center; too partisan; too slanted toward programs supported by union bosses," Mundt wrote.

Ike Denies
Mincing no words, Eisenhower issued this disavowal through a secretary:

"Sen. Mundt's statement as reported to me Sunday evening does not accurately describe either my views on public affairs or my personal plans, and I very much regret its issuance.

"The senator evidently intended to repeat in detail our private and purely social conversation, but his recollection of the many subjects mentioned and his interpretations differ markedly from my own.

"Especially I regret the assessment attributed to me of the performance of my successor and his administration, on which subject I have formed no judgment.

Public Criticism
"Moreover, I have always directed my public criticism to ideas and programs—never to individuals. While in that conversation and on prior occasion I have expressed opposition to certain of the pledges in the platform adopted in Los Angeles, I have likewise expressed the earnest hope of every loyal American that the future actions of the new administration will promote the over-all welfare of the United States."

Mundt could not be reached Sunday night for comment on Eisenhower's statement.

The Mundt news letter also said

Eisenhower was disturbed by Kennedy's statements that the economy is in trouble.

Two Kahoks on AP's First All-State Team

Lincoln, Washington Capture Titles In Grade School Tourney Finals

Lincoln's heavyweights and Washington's lightweights emerged from a pair of thrillers in the finals of the Grade School basketball tournament Saturday as the new city champs of their respective divisions. Lincoln scraped past defending heavyweight champs, St. Mary's, 32-30 in an overtime. Washington staged a fourth quarter rally to nudge Lincoln's lightweights, 42-33.

In the heavyweight game Ricky and Randy Wallick dropped in buckets for Lincoln in the two-minute overtime to give their team a 32-28 lead over St. Mary's with 50 seconds remaining. Ricky Heckman came back with a basket for St. Mary's just five seconds later, but Lincoln managed to hold the losers scoreless the final 45 seconds. In the first period St. Mary's jumped off to a 4-1 lead on baskets by Phil Leake and Dave Dixon, but Lincoln controlled the rebounds the rest of the quarter and came back to take an 8-7 lead by the time the quarter was over.

Little Scoring
Both clubs hit a cold streak in the second quarter, and only one point was scored by either quint for four minutes. Lincoln could have built up a margin during this time, but they couldn't find the range on numerous free throw opportunities. Finally, Randy Wallick hit a basket for Lincoln, but John McGrath did the same for St. Mary's and by the time the half-time buzzer sounded it was tied, 11-11.

St. Mary's took a small lead at the start of the third frame, but Randy Wallick laid in a pair of baskets on fast breaks to put Lincoln ahead, 20-16, as the quarter drew to a close. Tom Lawless banked in a pair for St. Mary's, however, to cut the Lincoln lead to 22-20 after three periods.

Lincoln pushed its lead to 27-21 with just 2:20 left in the game. St. Mary's, however, caught fire behind Lawless and McGrath to take the lead, 28-27, with 45 seconds left. Seconds later Don Schrock made a Lincoln free throw to force the game into that overtime.

Randy Wallick Leads Scorers
Randy Wallick was high for Lincoln with 15 points. His brother Ricky added nine. Lawless was the top scorer for St. Mary's with 12.

In the lightweight game the lead changed hands close to a dozen times during the contest until Washington hit a hot streak late in the final period.

With four minutes left in the game, and Lincoln ahead, 32-31, Jeff Hargraves pushed in a long shot to put Washington on top, 33-32. Washington never trailed after that. Hargraves followed with another push shot, Ricky Heath made a pair of layups and Steve Sproul made a jump shot to open up the gap for Washington. Jim Dishman's free throw was the only scoring for Lincoln in that final four minutes.

Washington Stalls
In the final minute Washington, displaying some fine ball-handling, went into a very well-executed stall that prevented Lincoln from doing anything about closing the gap.

The lead went back and forth in the first half, and Ken Haynes tossed in a bucket to give Lincoln a 17-16 halftime lead.

Early in the third quarter Lincoln pulled to its largest lead of the game, 24-19, but with Hargraves leading the way Washington came back to tie it, 27-27, with a minute left. Lincoln got the lead back with two seconds left in the quarter when Gary Elliott hit a 30-foot push shot.

Early in the final period Bill Kested made a drive in shot to put Washington on top, 31-30, but Haynes put one in for Lincoln.

Then Washington came on with its final drive that won the game. Hargraves was high for Washington with 19. Haynes made 12 for Lincoln.

Third Place Battles
Third place battles in the light and heavyweight classes will be held at Madison School tonight at 4 and 5 p.m., respectively. In the lightweight division Madison will play St. Mary's, and in the heavy class Madison plays Washington.

Brumel, Thomas Clash Last Time This Friday

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Valery Brumel, the Soviet Union's matinee idol high jumper, goes for broke in the Knights of Columbus games here Friday night—his farewell appearance for the winter.

His best to date is 7-4 1/2 in Leningrad just a month ago. When he came here there was some doubt that he would put up any competition for John Thomas. Valery would be in a strange country, the crowds would be against him, the floor would be unfamiliar and the arena would be foreign to him.

But as it turned out, Thomas, 19, Boston University junior, has been the disappointment. Twice the pair have met and twice Brumel has won. Saturday night in the National AAU championships, he cleared 7-2. Thomas made 7 feet even.

Brumel thus became the first Soviet athlete to win a U.S. national indoor title.

Just a hint of an incident almost occurred during the broad jump in the AAU meet. Ralph Boston of Tennessee State, who holds every record in the books, shattered his own week-old pending record with a leap of 26-6 1/4—4 1/2 inches farther than last week's mark.

He did it with his back to the wall, too. It was on his last jump and Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of the Soviet Union was leading with 26 feet even. That made Igor the second man ever to hit 26 feet indoors.

But after Boston made his record jump, "Ter," as Boston calls him, had another try.

Over he went and it was a good one, but how good no one will ever know. He fouled and the officials refused to measure it.

Montreal Gains On Maple Leafs

By The Associated Press
Montreal's "Old Pros" are starting to smell that first place money in the National Hockey League race.

With four players sidelined with injuries, you'd think that this would be the time for the Canadiens to fade and enable the Toronto Maple Leafs to pull further ahead in the race for the league lead.

But Joe Blake's Montrealers rose to the occasion Sunday night and turned back the New York Rangers 3-1. Meanwhile, Toronto and the Detroit Red Wings played to a 2-2 tie.

As a result, the Maple Leafs' lead over the Canadiens was cut to two points. Montreal has a game in hand, however, with 9 remaining as compared to 8 for Toronto.

In Sunday night's other game, Bobby Hull scored twice as the Chicago Black Hawks walloped the Boston Bruins 7-2.

In Saturday's action Toronto defeated Detroit 3-1 and Montreal and Chicago tied 1-1.

To Shoot Movie In Explosive Setting

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — An American, an Englishman and an Irishman are plotting in King Hussein's Hashemite kingdom of Jordan to make "Lawrence of Arabia" a success.

The American, Hollywood movie maker Sam Spiegel, is producing a film about the controversial Col. T. E. Lawrence who died in 1935, leaving a trail of question marks behind him.

Because politics in the Middle East are unpredictable and the Arabs could conceivably take an instant dislike to the producer because of his religion (Jewish); the film because of its hero (Lawrence); some of the performers because of their nationality (British), Spiegel called in the Englishman, one of the best political trouble shooters in the business.

He is Anthony Nutting, 40, a former undersecretary of state for foreign affairs in Britain. Once Sir Anthony Eden's private secretary, Nutting, from his polished toe-caps to his well-groomed hair, is as handsome and debonair as his former employer.

So how did former pillar of the British Foreign Office whose education is quite correct (Eton and Cambridge); whose clothes are bought in the right place (Saville Row); whose club memberships are the best and whose listing in Britain's "Who's Who" cites hunting and fishing as major recreations, get involved with a Hollywood producer and an Irishman who will play Lawrence.

"They (the British Foreign Office and Hollywood) are not as different as all that," Nutting says. "In each case, you operate as a team and you have a boss to preside over the cabinet. It just happens that the boss' name is Spiegel instead of Eden."

Nutting was called in, for one reason, because he has been a friend of King Hussein since they had lunch after a cricket match as schoolboys attending Eton and Harrow respectively.

"LAWRENCE OF ARABIA" ... and played by O'Toole.

Perhaps because of this friendship, King Hussein has placed his desert patrol, 15,000 men, at the disposal of Spiegel for the film. So that explains the Englishman. Now what about the Irishman?

He is Peter O'Toole, 27, a dark-horse cast in the lead role after Marlon Brando, the original choice, was found to have a previous commitment to another motion picture.

Although O'Toole scored a hit in three Shakespearean plays last summer, he is unknown to both American and British filmgoers. So he is being surrounded with a host of male stars which probably will include Cary Grant, Kirk Douglas, Jack Hawkins, Sir John Gielgud and Horst Buchholz.

O'Toole, who has yet to learn how to ride a camel, talks to Nutting about the best ways to blow up bridges and otherwise play havoc in Jordan. After all, this is a film about Lawrence and, anyway, King Hussein will be amply compensated for any damage done to his communications lines.

Now what damage did Lawrence, alternately called a hero and a knave, actually do? He led the Arab revolt against the Turks in 1916-18. Lawrence, after breaking the back of the Ottoman Empire, was being hailed as the "uncrowned King of Arabia" when he disappeared into obscurity by enlisting in the Royal Air Force under an assumed name.

"We shall film desert battles, the Turkish massacre of an Arab township and the Arabs' retaliation," Nutting explained. We shall have to use Arabs to impersonate the Turks of course. Otherwise, the fighting might get too realistic."

Man Killed By Own Trap

CHICAGO (P)—Twice the victim of burglary, tavern owner Joseph Bugielski rigged his own trap—a Japanese rifle pointed at a rear door ready to blast an intruder when discharged by a string trigger trip.

Sunday, Bugielski, alerted by an electric burglar alarm, rushed into the tavern, opened the rear door and was wounded fatally by a shot from the rifle.

Illinoisans Seek to Protect Prehistoric Indian Mounds

By CHARLES B. HARNETT
Public Relations Director
Illinois State Museum

SPRINGFIELD — Twenty-eight years ago a group of Oklahoma men committed one of the most shameful acts of vandalism ever to be made against a prehistoric structure in America. Archaeologists of the Illinois State Museum, supported by professional and amateur archaeologists throughout the state, are determined that similar vandalism will never occur in Illinois, and are taking steps to prevent it.

The case in point happened in 1933 when six Oklahomans came upon the idea of launching what they believed would be a lucrative project. Tales about archaeological riches hidden away inside a large prehistoric Indian mound not far from Spiro, Okla., had suddenly overcome them with the lure of commercial treasure-hunting. Indian relics still were the vogue in those days and collectors were willing to pay for fine, prehistoric ware. The sextet, armed with this knowledge, decided to loot the mound as a depression-time business venture, and to sell what relics they could find, for a small fortune.

Tunnel Into Mound

The men first took a two-year lease on the mound area. Then, using horse-drawn scrapers, they cut a swath into the huge earthwork. After removing a sizeable portion from the mound's side, they cut a tunnel deep toward the center where they expected to find their prize.

Spiro Mound had been known to archaeologists for some time, but had never been professionally investigated. The huge conical structure—rising to a height of 33 feet with a 112 foot diameter—was too big a job for the few archaeologists practicing in Oklahoma at the time. Yet Sunday diggers who had found a profusion of Indian materials in the vicinity often conjectured about riches that might lay concealed in the massive structure. These stories and the strange fascination the mound held for the six adventurers drew them on as they dug toward the mound's bowels.

Discover Room

Although professional archaeologists were excluded from the excavation, it is recorded that the diggers, upon reaching the inside of the mound, discovered a hollow hemisphere-of-a-room. The walls were supposedly made of long cedar poles bowed together at the top to form a large domed ceiling.

In the course of the months that followed, the six men took from the ancient chamber an unbelievable mass of prehistoric artifacts. Conservative estimates put the booty at well over a ton-and-a-half of finely worked figurines, beads, maces, effigy pipes, bowls, gorgets, basketry, fabrics copper breast plates and axes and a host of other relics all in surprisingly good state of preservation. With each piece sold to the highest bidder, all of the articles were soon disposed of, scattered among hundreds of purchasers throughout the country. Upon expiration of the lease in 1935, the looters topped their avaricious undertaking by setting off a charge of dynamite in the mound's center, destroying the chamber and sealing the entrance.

Trace Relics

In subsequent years investigators were able to trace many of Spiro Mound's artifacts to relic dealers and collectors across the face of the nation. From those found, it was surmised that the mound had contained a burial chamber for one of the greatest chiefs ever to lead the prehistoric Indians of that region. The structure, they decided, had been built before 1500 A.D.

Today, scientists recognize Spiro Mound as having contained one of the most concentrated deposits of Indian materials ever discovered in the United States. Yet few of the objects have been recovered to help archaeologists decipher the story of the Spiro people and their great leader.

Little Profit

Ironically, the six Oklahomans profited little from their venture. For it is estimated that proceeds of the Spiro Mound loot, divided among the six, brought each man little more for his two years' labor than he could have earned as an ordinary ditch-digger.

Special Problems of Education in Alaska

By WARD T. SIMS

JUNEAU, Alaska (P)—Size, climate and isolation combine to give Alaska some educational headaches either unheard of or long-forgotten in the South 49.

They are the problems of a big, sparsely settled land, where winter shows its fiercest side and hamlets and villages are the rule rather than the exception.

In 1950, Alaska's school population was 10, 997. This year it pushed past 42,000.

And most of the students are scattered over 586,400 square miles of largely uninhabited land, from the timberlands of the southeast to the barren tundra of the Arctic coast.

To care for them, the 28 incorporated cities and towns of Alaska maintain their own school systems, just like those in their sister states to the south.

In addition, the state itself supports 112 elementary schools, most of them with one or two teachers located in remote native villages. And the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs operates 82 schools, including one huge high school for native youngsters at Mt. Edgecumbe, near Sitka.

Mt. Edgecumbe draws some 670 students each year from areas where high school education is not yet available or whose parents are financially unable to send them to public high school away from their own villages.

The BIA also operates Wrangell Institute, an elementary school for native children who are the products of broken homes, or orphans or who come from remote villages where there are no schools.

Students at both Wrangell Institute and Mt. Edgecumbe are gathered and dispersed each year by a massive airlift.

First and foremost among Alaska's school problems is transportation. While the trend in the South 49 is toward consolidation, in Alaska the reverse is true.

"We can't haul our children to schools in consolidated districts because, in most places, transportation simply just isn't available," says Dr. Theo. J. Norby, the soft-spoken ex-Californian who is commissioner of education.

"That accounts for the great number of schools in the state, compared to the number of students. Most of our schools are tiny by South 49 standards, with 10, 12 or 14 students and one or two teachers."

Each inwiter in the interior school authorities wrestle with the problem of heating school buses in temperatures which often range down to 40 degrees below zero. When the mercury drops below that point the kids get a holiday.

Winter also aggravates the school supply problem.

In those areas north of the Aleutians served by sea transportation, everything must be shipped in during the summer, before the Bering Sea and the Arctic Ocean ice up.

Despite the expense, the state is required to establish a school in any village where there are 10 or more children of school age, and the village wants a school.

The state requires that villagers provide adequate classroom space and suitable housing for the teacher. The state rents the space and provides teacher and necessary school supplies.

If it appears the community is going to be permanent — many native fishing villages grow and die like mushrooms — the state will build a permanent school.

In areas where families with school age children are completely isolated and day-to-day transportation is out of the question, the states buys correspondence courses for the youngsters.

Generally, most state schools are modern buildings of wood frame,

Neighbor Lad Stabs Teen Girl 14 Times

CHICAGO (P)—A youth accused of stabbing a young girl 14 times has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Joyce Piell, 13, Sunday identified a neighbor, Philip Rosner, 16, as the youth who stabbed her 14 times Saturday night in her suburban Skokie home where she was babysitting, police said. Rosner, surrendered to authorities by his parents Sunday, said he couldn't remember the incident.

Joyce was reported in serious condition. She told police she let Rosner into her home when he said he needed a key to his home across the street. Then, she said, he attacked her with a knife.

Her screams brought James Perry, 18, a next door neighbor, who routed the attacker at rifle point.

Police said the Piell and Rosner families kept spare keys at each other's homes.

PUBLIC NOTICE
State of Illinois ss.

County of LEE
APPLICATION UNDER THE ILLINOIS MOTOR CARRIER OF PROPERTY ACT

Before the Illinois Commerce Commission, Docket No. 12594 MC, Sub 1.

To Whom It May Concern:

The undersigned Applicants hereby give notice to the public that they have filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission under and by virtue of the Illinois Motor Carrier of Property Act, as amended, an application for transfer of authority as a Common Carrier under Certificate No. Ill. C.C. 12594 MC, Sub 1, from Claude Elbert Luce, whose address is Paw Paw, Illinois, Transferor, to John G. Hoelzer & Stanley J. Hoelzer, d/b/a J. Hoelzer & Son, whose address is R.F.D. No. 1, Paw Paw, Illinois, Transferee.

Such certificate, sought to be transferred, authorizes the following:

(1) As a common carrier—Commodities: Transportation of coal, grain and miscellaneous freight.

Territory or Routes: Within a fifty (50) mile radius of Paw Paw, Illinois, and to transport such property to or from any point outside of such authorized area of operation for a shipper or shippers within such area.

The Transferee, John G. Hoelzer and Stanley J. Hoelzer, d/b/a J. Hoelzer & Son, now hold no other authority to operate as a motor carrier of property.

The initial hearing on the application will be held at 10:00 o'clock A.M. (CST) in the offices of the Illinois Commerce Commission at 160 North LaSalle St., 19th Floor, Chicago, Illinois, on the 22nd day of March, 1961.

Any further information relative to the application may be obtained by writing the Illinois Commerce Commission, Motor Carrier of Property Division, Second Floor, New State Office Building, Springfield, Illinois.

DATED this 24th day of February A.D., 1961.

Applicants' Names and Addresses:

Claude Elbert Luce, Transferor,
Paw Paw, Illinois
John G. Hoelzer and Stanley J. Hoelzer, Transferee,
R.F.D. No. 1,
Paw Paw, Illinois

Transferee's principal place of business in Illinois will be: R.F.D. No. 1, Paw Paw, Illinois.

Applicants' Attorney and Address: Christ T. Troupis, 710 1/2 Washington St., Mendota, Ill. Feb. 27, 1961.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by Wyoming Township, Lee County, Illinois, until 2 p.m., March 14, 1961, for the construction of County Highway No. 10 from the east line of the Village of Paw Paw to the Lee-DeKalb County Line and at that time shall be publicly opened and read at the Town Hall in the Village of Paw Paw, Illinois.

The proposed improvement consists of grading, gravel or crushed stone surface course, pipe culverts, drainage and much related and incidental work.

Proposal forms may be obtained at the office of C. K. Willett, Consulting Engineer, 317 North Galena Avenue, Dixon, Illinois.

The Township Highway Commissioner of said Wyoming Township reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive technicalities.

Friendly Frustration Bothers J. F. K., Nik

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev are up to their necks in friendly frustration. They have laid a pleasant foundation for a future meeting, which seems inevitable, like two men who wanted to bury a hatchet but not in each other's head.

They have exchanged cordial messages and avoided name-calling and personal attacks which would make a meeting impossible, as Khrushchev made a meeting with former President Eisenhower impossible because of what he said. But beyond that there's no basic difference between Khrushchev's relations with Kennedy and his relations with Eisenhower. With both his main policy has been consistent: push where he sees a chance.

Chance in Congo
The chance he sees now is in the Congo. Although Kennedy wants the United Nations' forces to stay there to keep the peace, Khrushchev wants them out altogether.

Russia's chance for influence among the Congolese and a shattering penetration of Africa would be vastly improved with the U.N. forces gone. From the Russian viewpoint, this is natural enough. It's also natural enough for Kennedy to want nothing of the kind. So, while Kennedy has extended a friendly hand to Khrushchev, he has kept the other fist clenched.

There was nothing gentle about Kennedy's warning to Russia — without mentioning either Russia or Khrushchev by name — not to try to move into the Congo. State of Union
He told the Russians and Red Chinese in his State of the Union message that soft talk from them would leave him unconvinced that

Last Yellow Fever Soldier Is Dead

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — James Leonard Hanberry's distaste for liquor led him to volunteer for Dr. Walter Reed's Cuban experiments in 1901 which led to discovery that yellow fever was transmitted by mosquitoes. Hanberry, last survivor of the 25 soldiers who volunteered and helped wipe out yellow fever epidemics, died in the Veterans Hospital here Sunday at the age of 86.

The Spanish-American War veteran said in an interview two years ago that he didn't drink and "Maj. Reed (Walter Reed, the famous Army doctor) told us that booze and yellow fever don't mix. Many of the other fellows indulged now and then, so I figured I'd be better off than they would."

Hanberry and the others submitted to bites from mosquitoes that had bitten yellow fever patients. They contracted the disease but survived.

In 1929, Congress awarded a special medal to Hanberry and the other volunteers.

Hanberry was a native of Denmark, S.C., where he was a police officer after the war.

About 20 years ago he moved to Orangeburg, S.C., where funeral services were arranged for today.

equipped to fight an all-out war. It will have the power to discourage the Russian and Chinese Communists from starting small wars since they might mushroom into big ones.

Russian Idea
If the Russian idea of peaceful coexistence means pushing into one nation after another and taking over, through pressure from without or within, then it would become a very unpeaceful coexistence.

Since Kennedy says "we must never be lulled into believing that either (Russia or Red China) has yielded its ambitions for world domination," then he will have to remain able to deal firmly with them.

He's firm with them now, while Khrushchev tries to push in the Congo. So, while Kennedy and the Russian on the surface deal in the friendliest way, they are actually frustrating each other.

Segregation on The Other Side

CHICAGO (AP)—The head of the Negro Muslim cult Sunday called for separation of the races in the United States.

Integration is not good for the Negro, Elijah Muhammad told an applauding rally audience, which a cult aide estimated at 6,000.

"You are a nation in a nation," he said. "The only solution to our problems is separation."

John X—Muhammad's aides do not use their family names—said the crowd that filled more than half the International Amphitheatre's 12,000 seats included Muslims from all parts of the country. Membership in the cult has been estimated in published reports as 70,000.

The rally was held in connection with the cult's annual convention. The movement's headquarters is on Chicago's South Side. A Temple of Islam there operate clothing, cleaning and barber shops, a grocery and a restaurant.

Muhammad acknowledged he had been called a "hate teacher" in his attitude toward white people, but he said his mission is "resurrecting the Negro people." Occasionally the audience chanted: "That's right."

Malcolm X, chief of the cult in New York City, introduced Muhammad as "the most talked about black man in America today."

Muhammad spoke and shouted for almost two hours from a rostrum in front of a sign reading: "There is no God but Allah, Muhammad is his apostle."

Some observers have said the goal of the cult is Negro supremacy. Muhammad has publicly stated they seek equality, and has made it clear they want no part of integration.

Muhammad, who used the name Elijah Poole in his early years, was born in Sandersville, Ga. In his youth he went to Detroit, where he founded the first Temple of Islam early in the 1930s. He established Temple No. 2 in Chicago in 1934.

Followers of Muhammad practice certain disciplines. They are required to give up tobacco and alcohol. But a spokesman for orthodox Muslims said they are not considered true believers in Islam.

New Jobs Big Home Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy's top labor advisor says that creating 26 million new jobs in the next decade is the nation's No. 1 domestic problem.

Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, made that assertion at a banquet given in his honor Sunday night by AFL-CIO labor union officials whom he formerly served as a chief legal counsel.

Goldberg's estimate of future employment needs means that more than one new job will have to be created by the end of the next decade for every one of the approximately 65 million jobs existing today.

Goldberg said that widespread unemployment and dwindling job opportunities are high on the list of "unfinished business inherited by the present administration."

"All the things that have been swept under the rug during the past eight years are rapidly coming to light," he said.

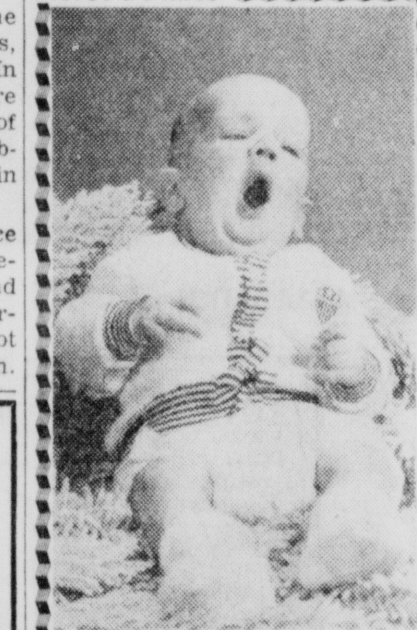

Goldberg agreed with George Meany, AFL-CIO president, that finding jobs for the rapidly increasing work force and for workers displaced by new production techniques is a problem of major proportions.

Goldberg was due to confer today at a closed session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

The labor secretary told newsmen on his arrival here that Congress is speeding up its procedure to push Kennedy's proposals ahead. He said he hoped Kennedy's first major goal will pass the House this week a proposal for $1 billion extra unemployment compensation aid.

Public Utility Fuss Hits Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Rep. James D. Holloway, D-Sparta, said today he will introduce a bill in the Illinois Legislature to exempt electric cooperatives from jurisdiction of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The public utility act currently makes no reference as to whether operations of the cooperatives should be regulated by the commission.

The public utility act currently makes no reference as to whether operations of the cooperatives should be regulated by the commission.

Holloway's measure is expected to be opposed bitterly by two Illinois power companies, which have asked the commission to declare three Southern Illinois co-ops public utilities.

Petition Pending
The petition pending before the commission was filed by Illinois Power Co. and Central Illinois Public Service Co. They contend the co-ops are operating as public utilities and intend to invade territory now served by the private companies.

The co-ops are Egyptian Electric Cooperative Association, Steeleville; Southeastern Illinois Cooperative Inc., Eldorado, and Southern Illinois Electric Cooperative, Dongola.

If his measure fails and the commission declares the co-ops to be public utilities, Holloway said, it will mean "the eventual end of the 27 electric co-ops in Illinois."

Holloway, an employee of Egyptian, said the power companies "have for years been insured profitable rates of return" in commission rulings and the co-ops could not effectively compete with them.

contended the co-ops "have obviously been operating as public utilities and now intend to invade the territory being served by public utilities which are subject to the commission's jurisdiction."

The companies said evidence to be brought out at a future commission hearing would show the co-ops have commenced "to compete with CIPS and IP by building facilities down the same streets and highways and in the same cities where CIPS and IP have existing lines."
